SLEEP AND Mental Health

How many of your clients have sleep issues?

Or maybe the real question is how many of your client don't?

Where we used to think mental health problems caused insomnia, we now know that the relationship is more circular than causal. Risky and addictive, drugs aren't the answer. But without addressing sleep issues, and intervening in this vicious cycle, your treatment plans for mental health issues will likely be less effective and yield less successful outcomes.

You CAN help your clients improve their sleep and make your treatment of mental health issues more effective than ever before...and you don't need to be a sleep expert to do it!

Whether you work with anxiety, depression, trauma, bipolar or any other disorders, this one-day training will give you the sleep assessment tools and treatment techniques you need to guide clients out of their sleep deprived world so you can improve clinical outcomes.

Attend this training and discover how you can:

- Naturally improve sleep in clients without the use of addictive medication
- Identify sleep disorders and differentiate them from mental health symptoms
- Improve sleep for clients of all ages – from kids to adults
- Snap clients out of sleep-depriving habits with behavior changing exercises

Sign up today, and add a new tool to your toolbox to bring greater healing to your clients through the power of sleep!

Objectives

1. Analyze which mental health symptoms accompany the many sleep disorders and its clinical implications.
2. Assess your clients' symptoms for sleep disorders that impair mental health to improve treatment outcomes.
3. Practice psychoeducation with clients to help them identify their individual optimal sleep needs for improved mental health and daily functioning.
4. Develop an optimal individual sleep treatment plan for your clients and implement skills to help them adopt the sleep healthy lifestyle.
5. Determine when referral for further sleep disorders treatment is an appropriate approach to manage symptoms.
6. Evaluate the mechanisms by which insufficient sleep and sleep disorders contribute to mental health problems for purposes of client psychoeducation.
